

Army Field Band To Play In Dothan

The internationally famous United States Army Field Band of Washington, D. C., will perform in concert on Saturday, October 18 at 7:30 p.m. in the Houston County Farm Center, Dothan. Admission is free. Nicknamed the "Kings to the Highway" because of the official touring musical representative of the Department of the Army, it travels as much as 40,000 miles a year. The Field Band has appeared in all 50 states, Canada, Mexico, the United Kingdom, Europe and the Far East.

Highlights of their world-wide tour have included performances in London's Royal Festival Hall, the Edinburgh Music Festival, the Olympic Stadium in Berlin, Luxembourg Gardens in Paris, and the Concert Hall in Amsterdam.

Since its formation in 1946, the Field Band has traveled more than one million miles in performing concerts all over the world. In 1968 alone, the band presented more than 600 concerts to a total audience of over two million people.

The Field Band, in addition to live transistorized music, is often called to perform for the President, Vice-President, cabinet, Joint Chiefs of Staff, or visiting foreign heads-of-state. This is the Field Band's second appearance at the Houston County Farm Center. In 1967, their concert drew more than 3,000 people.

The performance is sponsored by the Bogardus S. Calms Chapter of the Association of the United States Army.

The auditorium where the concert will perform is the same which spends its Friday night listening to the grunts and groans of professional wrestling.

The concert will begin Saturday night at 7:30 o'clock. The Field Band will be the first U. S. military band to present a full-dress concert in New York's Carnegie Hall.

Jus' Ramblin'

BY LUCIA K. WOODMAN-MCRAE

Always behave like a duck. Remain calm and unruffled on the surface but keep paddling like hell underneath. That is the advice given by Motor West magazine.

I have read several things lately that impressed me more than usual. For instance, and I quote from the column "Buck Talk" in the September issue of the American Press:

"The courage it takes to be an editor cannot always be measured. There are those who occasionally come out for something - like 'Let's all fly the flag on Flag Day.' That's fairly easy, like running an editorial on 'Yes, there is a Santa Claus.' However, there are a few readers who must have the editor's word that 'The Press doesn't tell him much. That is because the correspondent has forgotten to include the name of the organization, the date and place of the meeting, or the names of the people concerned.'"

"The other day the editor discovered that the correspondent had been making a survey over the years on ink conservation. The competition among publicity chairman is keen, and each strives diligently to use the smallest quantity of ink."

"The Press continued with a sheet bearing only a few faint blue marks. 'What jolly fun!' he exclaimed, adjusting his sleeve buttons and leaning back in his swivel chair. 'I'll just take this home and figure it out nights in my spare time.' He has the same enthusiasm for typed news releases, single-spaced with no space between words."

"News release should contain the most important facts at the beginning of the story. The editor is not usually called an avid mystery story fan. He likes stories that begin with 'The butler did it.' Sometimes he receives a long account of a pretty good idea who wrote the editorial on the third page with, 'There was no Treasurer's Report because the Treasurer has been missing for several weeks. The meeting adjourned early, because of the fact there was no Treasurer's Report, and because of the fire.'"

"I just there isn't an editor in the country but who would understand the problems mentioned in that article. But this writer didn't mention the person who goes to the editor's office to give a news item for the paper but after you start talking about it refuse to tell you enough to make the report interesting. It is something like 'See the cat. See the cat run.'"

"Such a discussion can be quite upsetting and sometimes you're ready to throw in the towel when you fall to get the information wanted. And nine times out of ten that same person will be the most critical when they come out in the paper in the limited form and they wonder why didn't the editor tell all about the visit, the trip, or whatever it might have been."

"Being a small town newspaper publisher, editor, and reporter can be confusing sometimes. And it takes being mighty brave or that you don't give a damn. You're to be both ways."

"I'm JUST NORMAL, I'm sure, for surely it has happened to most of you some time or other. Tuesday afternoon when I got home from work I went through the routine of feeding the critters and then locked myself out of the house. With me on the outside was nothing, I didn't have the house keys to my house, to Mack's house nor to the business. Nor did I have a coat and the weather was turning pretty cold."

"I don't think it would be easy for anyone to break in for I tried every key I could think of and I didn't get in. Mack was out of town and that was the only other key to the house available. I went over to Ruth Nelson's to telephone for Larry or Merle to come pick me up and I would stay with them until Mack got home."

"The editor should be able to read the press release. This is sort of important. The editor rates to be accused of not picking, but some of the excitement and drama of a club meeting report is lost when the handwriting cannot be deciphered. Sometimes the editor opens an envelope and hundreds of little pieces of paper, each with an unresolvable sentence on it, fall out on his desk."

"The editor has a similar reaction when he sits open an envelope and extracts a tenth card, on onion skin paper. 'Carbon copies are bad for another, psychological, reason. The editor wonders who got the original, and why he didn't get it.'"

VA Offers $250 Burial Expense For Veterans

Up to $250 for the burial expenses of an eligible deceased veteran will be paid by the Veterans Administration without regard to whether the interment is in a national cemetery or a private burial place.

The VA said that the allowance is payable in the case of wartime veterans, including those who have served after August 4, 1964, but added that peace-time as well as wartime veterans are eligible for burial in any national cemetery that has available space. The only requirement is that their period of active duty must have ended with an honorable discharge.

Administered by the Department of the Army, the benefits include grave site and actual interment in the national cemetery including opening, closing, and marking the grave.

The Army also furnishes a headstone or grave marker for deceased veterans buried in unmarked private plots.

Information and assistance on filing for these Army-administered benefits will be furnished by any VA office.

Claims for the burial allowance may be filed with the VA within two years after the veteran's burial or cremation.

The claim may be filed by the undertaker, if he has not been paid, or by the party who paid the undertaker, the VA explained.

Social Security Is Available To Disabled

Harry N. Scott, manager of the Dothan Social Security Office, stated that one aspect of social security benefits is not always understood. Specifically, there are many individuals, often adults, who were disabled since birth or who became disabled in childhood who may be eligible for social security benefits.

There are a few conditions that must be met in order for these individuals to be entitled to these childhood disability benefits. The child must be the son or daughter of an individual who is entitled to a social security retirement or disability benefit, or who was insured at the time of death. The disability, mental or physical, must have occurred before age eighteen and still exist. Also, the disability must be such as to prevent the person from doing any substantial work. And, finally, the individual must be single.

Scott stated that continuing efforts are being made to reach these individuals or to alert others who may know of them, to get in touch with the social security office. Thus, anyone who has a child who is disabled before age eighteen and is still disabled no matter how old the child is now, should apply for these benefits. Actually, Mr. Scott said, we in Social Security prefer that the parent not try to determine whether the child is qualified or not. The best and safest thing to do is call or visit the Social Security Office. The people there will be glad to help in any way possible. The office is located in the Federal Building, 100 West Troy Street and the telephone number is 794-3161.

HIGHER PROFITS

$50 an acre this winter

graze steers on temporary pasture
Every winter more and more farmers turn idle acres into profit by grazing steers on well-fertilized temporary pastures.

HERE'S HOW:
Agricultural authorities report that feeder steers weighing 450 to 500 pounds, grazed on winter small grain at a stocking rate of one steer per acre, gain about 300 pounds in 150 days, at a cost of about $40. If you buy feeders at $30 a pound and sell them at the same price—the 300-pound weight gain equals $90 per animal! Your profit is $50 or more per head—much more if you sell at a higher price!

FOLLOW THESE TIPS

- (1) Select calves capable of making fast gains—preferably good on choice.
- (2) Use recommended amounts of time and mixed fertilizer, based on soil tests. Apply at planting time or just before.
- (3) Use certified seed.
- (4) Apply recommended amounts of nitrogen at planting time and top dress with an equal amount of nitrogen in February or March.

For more details on profitable winter grazing, see the experienced folks at your Big Boy headquarters. They offer a complete program tailor-made for farms in this area.

- Big Boy® Fertilizer—standard granular grades or prescription blended with extra nitrogen added to save you one top dressing.
- AMMO-NITE® Nitrogen—solutions or prilled.
- Certified seed.
- Custom applications.
- Free estimates.
- Anywhere ammonia.
- Soil testing service.
- Weed control chemicals.
- Equipment rental.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore an A-line gown of peau de soie. The bodice and long sleeves featured chantilly lace with panels of lace adorning the skirt. Her cathedral length veil of illusion fell from a headpiece of lace and pearls. Attached to the dress below the shoulders was a chapel length train of peau de soie. The bridal bouquet featured feathered carnations contrasted with a white orchid carried on a white ribbon.

Miss Novelle Bozeman, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Sandra Bozeman, sister of the bride, Miss Louise Williams, sister of the groom, and Mrs. Barbara Blocker, cousin of the bride, from Greenville, Florida.

The bride's attendants wore floor length empire dresses of blue applegate with scooped necklines and short puffed sleeves. They wore matching headpieces of blue illusion, and carried crescent shaped bouquets of yellow pom poms and greenery. The groom's father served as best man. Ushers were Tommy Danley, cousin of the bride from Pine Level, Tommy Dewberry and Terry Galloway of Elba. There is much more to good vision than people realize. Better vision can mean greater ability in every aspect of life. Although under normal circumstances your eyes will serve you as long as you live, it is important that you protect them with proper care.

Periodic check-ups are a necessity whether you wear glasses or not. Avoid strain by having the proper glasses (if you need them). Use proper lighting when reading, working or watching TV. Protect your eyes against glare. Rest them when they are tired. Sometimes a soothing eyewash or eye drops can be helpful. We carry many of them in our pharmacy.

YOU OR YOUR DOCTOR CAN PHONE US when you need a delivery. We will deliver promptly without extra charge. A great many people rely on us for their health needs. We welcome requests for delivery service and charge accounts.

Food For Thought

By Mary Lee

Did you ever stop to think when you open a package of cake mix or a box of crackers why the package is designed as it is? For example, the lining of a box of cookies which in turn differs from other containers for, say, flour, rice or gelatin.

Actually designing containers represents a great many hours of planning and experimentation. Packaging engineers, chemists, and food manufacturers sometimes spend years producing just the right package for a product.

Far from being just a case of eye-appeal, today's food packages perform many functions. They must protect the food from any dust or dirt; the loss of flavor, texture, color; all spoilage, and bacterial contamination.

Even substances used in the making of the packages come under extensive testing. The type of paper, kind of ink and adhesives used also are examined carefully under expected conditions of storage and use. Containers, too, must have the approval of the U. S. Food and Drug Administration.

Arch with greenery and a center piece of yellow and white gladioli.

Following the ceremony, the bride's parents entertained with a reception in the Fellowship Hall of the church. The bride's table was covered with white net over blue taffeta. Silver candelabras with burning yellow tapers and an arrangement of yellow pom poms were on the side of the three-tiered wedding cake, which was topped with a miniature bride and groom. Small compotes held mints and nuts. The cake was cut and served by Miss Rita McGulley of Mount Jan.

County Medical Assistants Meet

At Nursing Home

The Coffee County Medical Assistants Association held their regular meeting, Thursday, October 9, 1969, at the Elba Nursing Home.

Guest speaker was Mrs. Ruth Harris, who gave an interesting talk on "Parliamentary Procedure," and followed the talk with a question and answer period. Mrs. Harris is Parliamentarian for the Pilots Club of Enterprise. She has a Bachelor of Science degree from Troy State and did graduate work at the University of Alabama.

Members present were Jean Farbrother, Juanita Blocker, Helen Beher, Fran Thomas, Pat Johnson, Jo Ann Wade, Frances Ruff and the hostess, Nell Lawford.

These are the products of man's labor—and God's. From the moment the seedlings were placed in the warm earth, they have been under constant care.

First came the rain and the sun—and then the ceaseless work of fertilizing, cultivating, and spraying. Last, came harvest time, when the proud growers gathered the rewards of their labor.

Only by such diligence can we hope for a truly bountiful crop. God has given the refreshing rain and warm sunshine, but He expects us to do our part.

And so it is with the care and cultivation of our spiritual lives. Man is endowed with many talents and qualities, but unless he tends and nurtures these gifts, they will not increase and grow.

Harvest time in the life of every person is at maturity, when men are at the peak of their usefulness and wisdom. By attending the services of the Church and by studying the Scriptures, we will realize greater happiness and contentment here on earth—and will be preparing ourselves for the RICH HARVEST of a life hereafter.
